

Dick Franciss Gamble

One of the youngest winners of the Grand National, Nick Foxy Foxtton suffered a near-fatal injury that cut short his career. Years later, hes out for a day at the Grand National races when his colleague, Herb Kovack, is shot at point-blank range right in front of him. Like the police, Nick is baffled: Why would anyone kill such an apparently gentle soul? Then Nick finds a threatening note in the dead mans coat, and he begins to doubt how well he really knew his friend. And on discovering that Herb named him beneficiary in his will, Nick wonders why hes been entrusted with the legacy. Is this a generous gift from a friend, or is it, in fact, a poisoned chalice?
